The student life at Guilderland

reflects a rich

heritage of tradition.

It is a heritage of scholastic achievement,

athletic accomplishment,

and enthusiastic participation.

This is manifested in a broad spectrum of extracurricular activities,

a diversified social calendar,
and an enduring evidence of school spirit.

With these traditions in mind,

CURRICULUM

District Supervisor

MR. ALTON FARNSWORTH

The development of the Guilderland Central School District since its 1950 organization has taken several directions. Most obvious has been the growth in number of students, buildings and staff. With almost 5,000 students and with a seventh building at Lynnwood Elementary School now in construction, this growth has been recognized by the people of Guilderland. Changes not so easily seen but probably of more importance have been in the areas of curriculum development and evaluation.

The Board of Education serves the district as a policy-making unit with the Superintendent of Schools as the chief executive officer. The Board is informed of curriculum affairs and administrative matters at monthly meetings.

It is the primary duty of the Superintendent to coordinate the work of administrative, professional and non-professional staff to assure an effective educational program.

Principal

Mr. Ciaccio has had a long career in educational service. He began as the chairman of the department of citizenship education at Camden Central, Camden, New York in 1950. Three years later, he came to Guilderland's predecessor, Altamont High School, as a social studies teacher and department chairman. In 1956 he moved to the assistant principal's job, and in 1960 he became principal of Guilderland. Mr. Ciaccio received his AB from Hobart College and his MA from New York University. Extensive work at SUNY at Albany accompanied his teacher and administrator certification. Mr. Ciaccio is a friend to all students and an excellent principal of GCHS.

Principal's Message

During his lifetime, each of us is in search of a personality. We try to pattern ourselves and our behavior after someone we admire. This is called "role playing." We try out our new roles in hopes of finding ourselves, or finding a role that fits. In essence, we try on many masks in an effort to find one to present to the outside world.

Some people never get over this role playing usually associated with the young adult. They never quite find out who they are or what they want. Sometimes we encounter the adolescent adult--the person who, although older, continues the same erratic behavior patterns of the teenager, in a never ending search to find himself.

The fads and fancies of one day are the curiosities of the next. Their values are superficial and temporary. When your time for role playing arrives, try the roles of kindness, hope, understanding, and love in your search for a lasting personality.

SCHOOL BOARD - SEATED: Marjorie Heller, Burton Carmen, Virginia Briggs. STANDING: Ernest Bachand, Donald Selee, Burton Hahn, Emmett Fassett, John Martin

Mrs. Claus, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Vrooman.

The school board at Guilderland exercises its power in many ways--managing the school district's legal activities, controlling the curriculum and employment of teachers, and establishing school rules. In our rapidly expanding district, the importance of this board increases yearly.

Mr. Alland coordinates curriculum information and its application to Guilderland, and manages the federal aid program. Mr. Shands conducts all district business dealings, makes purchasing decisions, and keeps financial records. It is the responsibility of Mr. Quintana to coordinate the maintenance programs of Guilderland's six complexes.

Assistant Principal

MR. PETER GRIFFIN
Assistant Principal

I.B.M.

Today in the age of electronics, computers play an increasingly important part at Guilderland. The massive scheduling of thousands of students and the preparation and distribution of report cards every six weeks is no longer a tedious, time consuming job, thanks to our electronic brain. The people in our IBM office save the faculty and administration many hours of work by keeping these valuable and complex machines in excellent operating condition. Undoubtedly, their role in computer programming has become an indispensable part of GCHS, and it promises to be even more valuable in the future.

Mr. Griffin serves a dual purpose as both school administrator and teacher. He is a graduate of St. Michael's College where he received both his BA and MA. Before coming to GCHS Mr. Griffin enjoyed a brief career as a semi-professional baseball player. This experience has made him a fine freshman baseball coach and a valuable friend and assistant to varsity ball players also. Mr. Griffin started as a math teacher at Guilderland, and became vice-principal last year when Mr. Carlson vacated the position to continue his studies. Currently Mr. Griffin's teaching schedule consists of one Math 13 class, which gives him time to carry out his many new responsibilities. These duties include supervision of attendance, discipline, transportation, and adult education - tasks which make each day a busy one. Guilderland's students find him an understanding administrator and an excellent math teacher.

Office Secretaries

Guilderland's efficient secretaries skillfully handle the volume of mail which passes through our offices daily, answer phone calls, and keep the school in smooth running order. They provide the administration with indispensable aid, and the student body with a cheerful smile and ready assistance.

Mrs. Rhona Twombly and Mrs. Hazel Cornelly

Guidance

Mr. Joseph Purcell Dept. Chairman

Mrs. Jean Nachbar
Guidance Secretary

Mr. Frank Bruno served as Director of Guidance from 1957-1965 and as counselor for the class of 1966 during the 1964-65 school year. His untimely death in May of that year stole from the class a true friend, dedicated to helping all students to be most successful in their educational and vocational aspirations. Many of the members of the class of '66 will long remember Mr. Bruno for the help and inspiration he gave them.

The guidance staff aims to provide for all students an opportunity to take full advantage of a Guilderland education. In doing this, the counselors assist each student in selecting a course of study which is most appropriate for him. They then help each student to overcome any obstacles which he meets while following this course of study.

The counselors provide and interpret information concerning the fields of work, college education, and military service. They help each student to select the type of education or career he will follow after graduation and assist in placing students in schools and positions of employment.

The counselors' primary functions are in areas of educational and vocational guidance. They are, however, ready to provide guidance in other areas when needed.

Library

Our Senior High School library is expanding quite rapidly; it boasts about 12,000 volumes, 162 periodicals, and a seating capacity of 80. At some time in his high school career, each student is expected to familiarize himself with the card catalog, the vertical file, and the periodical index. Book selection guides and book lists are readily available for student use, but a great deal of the student's selection is dictated by his own tastes and requirements.

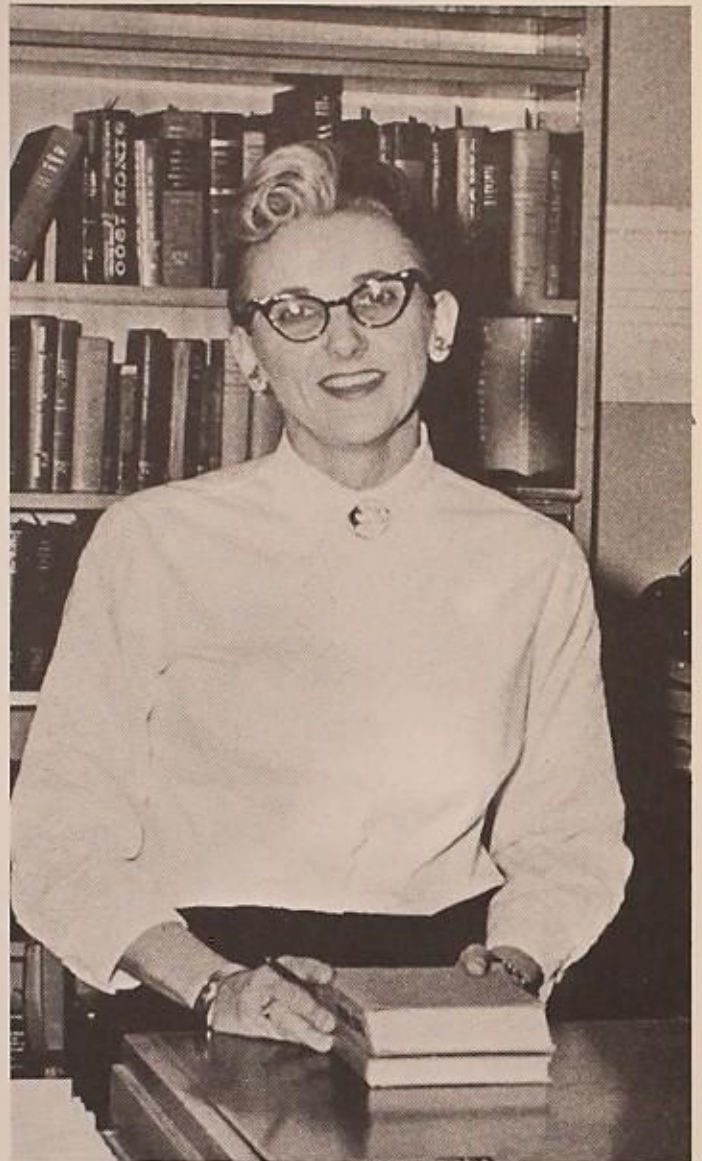

Team-teaching groups in both the social studies and English departments use the library as an integral part of their programs, since team-teaching incorporates individual study.

Admission to the library is from study halls, directly from classes or an entire class may come with its instructor. This flexibility allows most students ample time to do assigned work and meet reading requirements.

Miss Ropke has been the librarian since 1954 when the senior high school opened. Her aversions to gum chewing and noise are legendary, but her time is readily available to students who need help in library use.

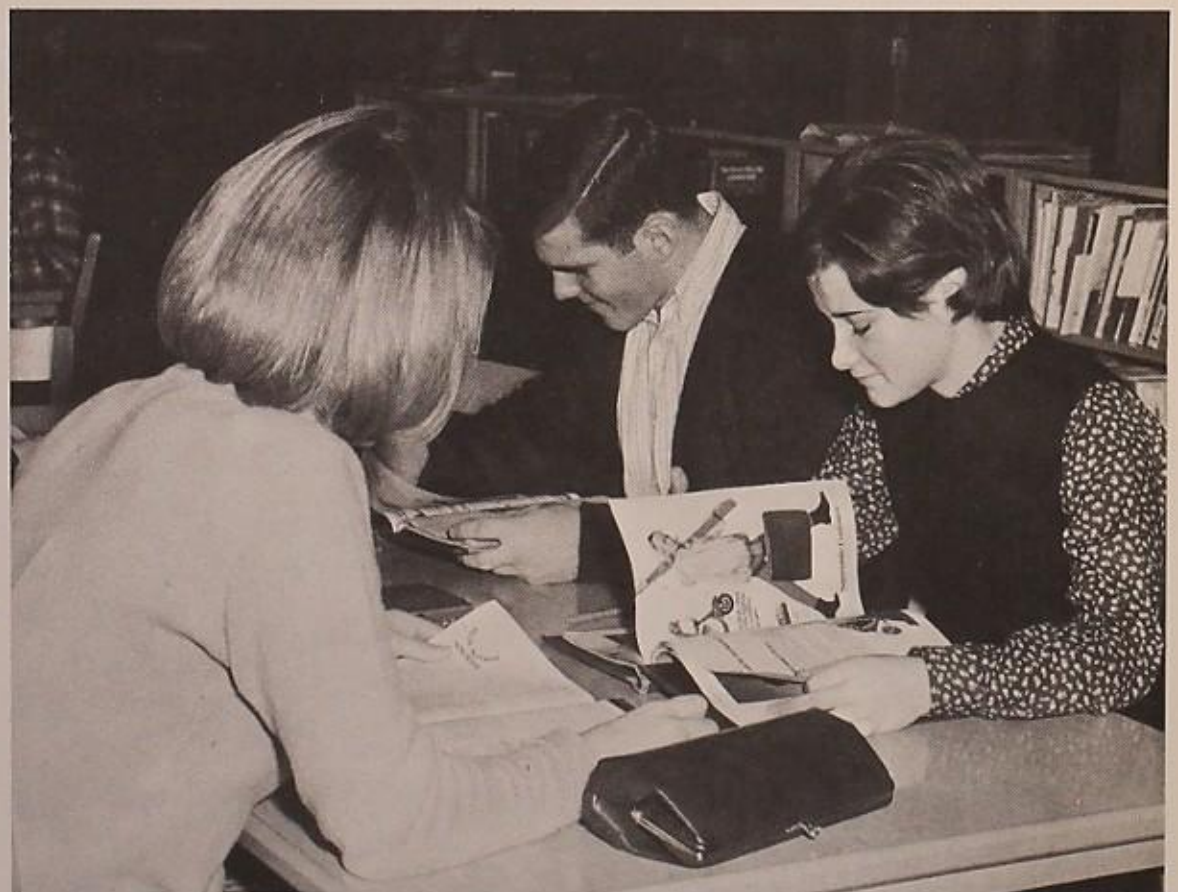

J. Kenton, T. Saddlemire and T. Lynch browse through library periodicals during a free period.

Miss Dolores Ropke
Librarian

Mrs. Reba Asch
Library Secretary

Cafeteria

Guilderland's dietician, Mrs. Mosall, occupies what is certainly one of the most important positions in the district. Her job entails the feeding of thousands of hungry students who eat daily in the district's six cafeterias. Under her direction, the kitchen staff efficiently and economically prepares two types of lunches each day. Mrs. Mosall is responsible for planning the monthly menus, which are tasty and appetizing as well as well-balanced. Complaining about the lunches seems to have become a school tradition, but the length of the lunch lines testifies to the quality of the food.

As cafeteria clerk, Miss Schaible is in charge of purchasing and finances. It is her duty to manage the bookkeeping and records so that the cafeteria can run as efficiently as possible.

Custodial Staff

Keeping Guilderland's six wings spotlessly clean is an around-the-clock job for the custodial staff. Matrons and custodians are kept busy sweeping, polishing floors, cleaning boards, and disposing of trash long after students have gone home for the day. Not only do they keep our school immaculate, they are always ready in an emergency to fix a jammed locker, find a spare desk, or unlock a door. Although most students take their services for granted, we owe the custodians a debt of gratitude for cleaning up after us and maintaining a sanitary and efficient building for us to enjoy.

The business department provides training which will enable its students to enter a vocation after graduation, or go on to business or secretarial school. The business program includes courses in typing, business math, office practice, business law, stenograph, bookkeeping, and distributive education. On the job training provides first-hand experience with business methods and supplements classroom learning. Many business students have the opportunity to work in the school store. Others use their practical knowledge to contribute to extracurricular activities, clubs and school publications. In general, the business department stimulates student enthusiasm while providing the best possible business education.

Foreign Language

Mr. Sean Morris
Dept. Chairman

Mr. Frank Cicero

In a world of diminishing distances, effective communication has become increasingly important. Guilderland's language department now teaches five major languages with several levels of achievement in each. Classroom activities and recent textbooks are supplemented by use of the modern language-lab, increased perusal of foreign novels and magazines, and greater classroom contacts with our foreign exchange students. Extracurricular clubs and activities stimulate student interest and increase conversational proficiency. Guilderland's excellent language program has enabled many students to gain a more thorough understanding of another culture and a greater knowledge of a foreign tongue.

The history department teaches subjects covering a wide range of interests. In addition to world history and American history, students can elect courses in political science, economics, Asian studies, and sociology. Electives usually require college textbooks; and they are college-oriented in depth, amount of outside reading, techniques, and evaluation. The major goal of the history department is to saturate its students with ideas and force them to think. Students are encouraged to voice their opinions, to debate current issues, and to increase their knowledge of the world around them. Regardless of the mark he achieves, a history student can be counted successful if he has learned to participate in the give and take of classroom activities and discussion.

Mr. Frank Andreone - 12R, 11NR, Asian studies, sociology Department Chairman; Mr. Robert Babcock - 12H, 11H, 10R, 12R, Advisor - Student Council; Mr. Ronald Pryor - 12NR, 11AR, 11R, Advisor - junior class; Mr. William Young - 10R, 10NR; Mr. Paul Cullen - 11R, 11AR, 10R; Mr. Arnold Rothstein - 10AR, 10R, 10NR, Advisor - sophomore class; Mr. George Segenberger - 12AR, 11NR, Asian studies, sociology, Advisor - Honor Society; Mr. John Yager - 10R, 10SP, 11SP, political science, economics, Advisor - senior class; Mr. Patrick McCaffrey - 12R, 11R, 12NR; Mr. Frederick Day - 10NR, 12R.

One of the most important skills a student can acquire is the ability to write and communicate clearly and effectively. In English classes at Guilderland students not only develop the mechanical technique of our language, they acquire an appreciation of fine literature and a desire to read more widely. Intensive analysis of famous literary masterpieces provides students with a greater knowledge of society, mankind and the world in general. The English program is one of the most important at Guilderland because it forms the basis for a student's entire education, and because its subject matter is essential to all students regardless of the vocation they enter.

The science program at Guilderland is one of the most forward looking, due to the very nature of the subject matter. In this era of scientific progress, new information is continually being unearthed, and new methods are being put into practice. Guilderland students are fortunate to be provided with the latest developments and the most modern equipment. Guilderland's science program has been recognized as one of the best in the state. In a world constantly becoming more science-oriented, the science department has done an excellent job of preparing students for future studies. Courses in biology, chemistry, and physics provide a substantial basis for college classes.

The technological revolution in our society has necessitated a change in mathematics at Guilderland. New topics have been included in college entrance courses, so that students may develop a clearer concept of the structure of mathematics, as well as an insight into its many new applications. The approach to fundamental ideas now requires more critical thinking on the part of the student. The math program also includes courses for students who will terminate their formal education in high school. A working knowledge of mathematics is essential in all phases of the business world. Guilderland's students will be well prepared by able teachers and a modern curriculum.

Industrial Arts

Industrial Arts provides special training in many industrial and automotive fields. Boys enrolled in shop courses are prepared to go on to technical school or to become mechanics, electricians, or carpenters. Students may also choose electives in this program. Courses are offered in transportation, woodworking, metals, electricity, and graphic arts. The graphic arts division aids in the publication of the school newspaper and produces tickets and programs for school activities. Supplies such as passes, detention slips, and absentee reports also come off the printing presses in shop. Students are trained to use Guilderland's excellent photographic equipment and new darkroom in order to print pictures for school publications. The fine instruction and many facilities available in the industrial arts department provide exceptional vocational training for Guilderland students.

Music

Guilderland's music curriculum, although not extensive, provides for a good musical education and will serve as the foundation for later expansion. Student participants in band, choir and orchestra have the opportunity for individual instrumental and vocal lessons in addition to daily group rehearsal. Numerous concerts by these organizations provide the opportunity for parents and friends to hear and appreciate the effort put forth by both students and music faculty. The overall music program is designed to develop an understanding and enjoyment of a great variety of music.

Mr. Richard Wagner - Choir, Music Theory, Dept. Chairman; Mr. Herman Gresens - Band; Mr. Ferrucci - Orchestra; Mrs. Ruth McGowan - Orchestra.

Physical Education

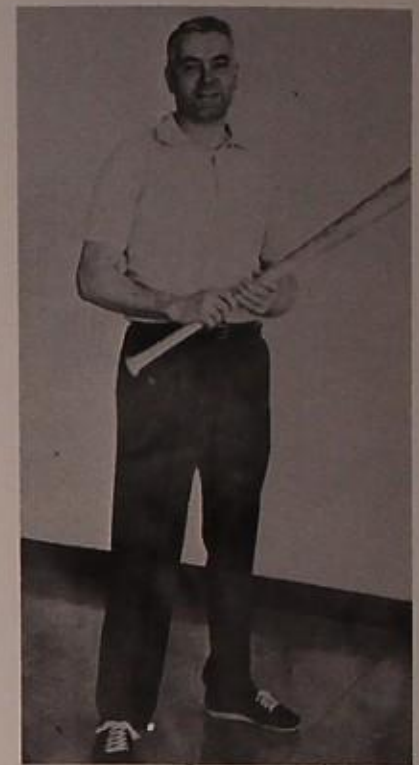

Fred Pidgeon gets in on the "hold" as H. Belinsky wrestles B. Maki in Coach Grady's gym class.

Physical education is an integral part of the total school program. It enables the student to develop neuromuscular skills through calisthenics, group games, apparatus, stunts, tumbling, dual activities, and combative sports. Through cooperative play in team games and an individual effort in single activities, physical education provides opportunity for the development of leadership, sportsmanship, and qualities desirable to society. A full program enables a student to appreciate his opponent and participate as an intelligent spectator at athletic events. Physical education also helps to encourage good health habits and form values for leisure time and adult life. Interested students are given the opportunity to participate in extracurricular activities such as intramurals, isometric exercise programs, and team sports. The broad curriculum at Guilderland allows each person to develop to his greatest potential of physical skill and reach his own level of achievement. Our excellent physical education program is instrumental in providing Guilderland students with a complete education.

G. Cowan, C. Branick, S. Lemmon, S. Dunne, and S. Dascher select patterns for sewing class.

Miss Sue Ellen Warren

The homemaking department has undergone great change this year with the addition of a new room, a new teacher, and new furniture. The new state curriculum still stresses classes in foods, clothing, housing, management, and family relationships, but has expanded its scope to reach a greater number of students. Two new half-year courses have been added in Child Care and Development and Community Health to encourage students to elect classes in homemaking during their free time. Girls involved in the Home Ec. programs also have the opportunity to plan and hostess receptions and teas for faculty and student organizations throughout the year. The homemaking curriculum is versatile enough to provide areas of concentration for the future homemaker and helpful electives for the students with academic majors.

Health

Mrs. Dorothy Jenner
Nurse-Teacher

A. Asch, R. Thibodeau, and S. Sebast wait for Mrs. Jenner.

The health office at Guilderland is staffed by a school nurse-teacher and a dental hygiene teacher. Mrs. Jenner, the school nurse-teacher, is responsible for scheduling tests for height, weight, eyes and ears, and physical appraisals for each student. Special examinations are held for boys participating in sports. This information is then used to guide parents and students in the selection of proper care, so as to enable the student to benefit as much as possible from the educational environment. Health personnel are also available for supplementary teaching in the classroom. Mrs. Nancy Krauss, the dental hygiene teacher, inspects the condition of each student's mouth once a year and completes a professional oral prophylaxis on at least half the student body, suggesting follow-up care when necessary.

Mrs. Nancy Krauss
Dental Hygienist

Mrs. Krauss performs an "oral prophylaxis" on Andrea Regan.

Driver Education

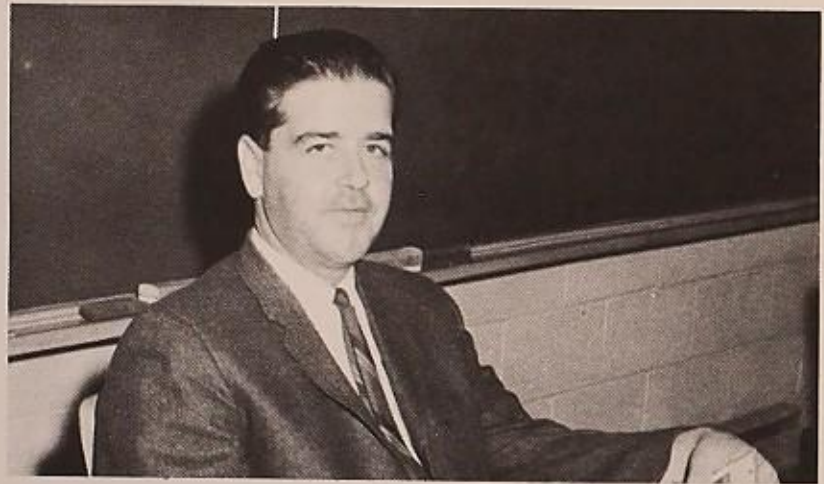

Mr. John Ryan

Driver Education is considered by many to be one of the most sought-after courses at school since driving has become a status symbol as well as a practical means of transportation. The students learn not only how to drive correctly and defensively, but also about the finances and mechanics of the automobile. Girls enrolled in this course are given special instructions on changing tires, and learn to detect the early warnings of a poorly working engine.

The single semester driving course has an influence on the students that lasts much longer than six months. The practical knowledge the student has gained will make him a better, more courteous driver today - and in the future.

Lecture courses are supplemented by practical training.

Special Class

The special class, with the help of their teacher Mrs. Schraeder, has been very active in school affairs this year. Their major project was a trip to New York City as part of a study of transportation and communications in the modern world. This trip was financed by a carefully planned bake sale and by the sale of Christmas candles that the students made themselves.

Mrs. Lissette Schrader

Mrs. Schrader's class discusses plans for their New York City trip.

All Mr. Babcock's ping-pong game needs is a little luck and his trusty corncob pipe.

High academic standing . . .

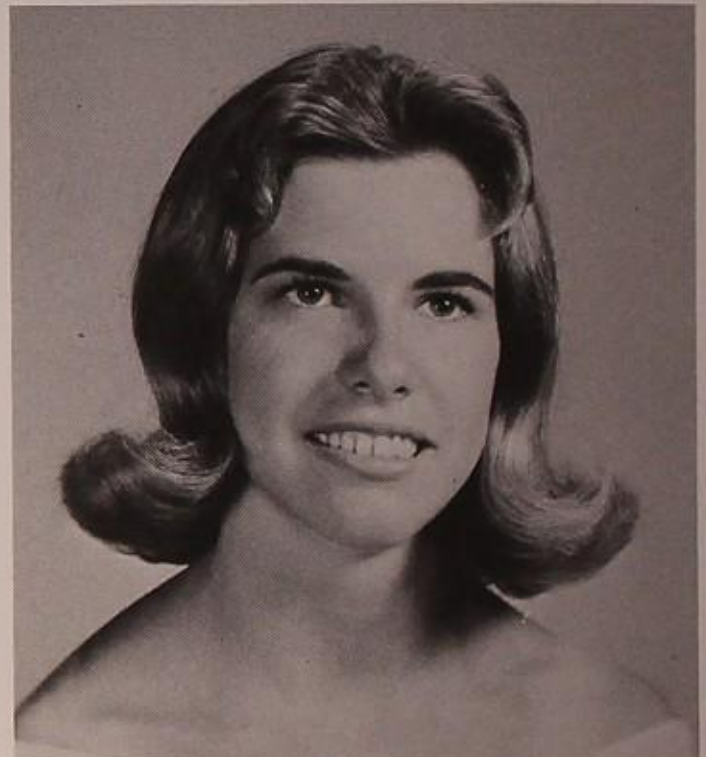

The students presented on these pages have helped to make Guilderland what it is today--an institution of high academic standing. Through continuous efforts, they have maintained the ten highest averages in the senior class. A well-rounded student should not only possess a desire to learn, but should show an active interest in extracurricular activities. These students have also met this challenge and have effectively carried out their responsibilities. Self-satisfaction and the knowledge of a job well done is their reward, and they deserve our congratulations too.

WILLIAM SOLODOW, SALUTATORIAN

Guilderland students have a long-established reputation as fine scholars. Each year the number of students that go on to further education increases. In recent years about seventy percent of each graduating class has been enrolled in colleges, universities, or technical schools. Guilderland students are also the recipients of numerous awards and vast amounts of scholarship money. Whatever walk of life they choose, the great majority are successful because of the extensive preparation they receive in high school. The students on these pages have continued to uphold Guilderland's tradition of scholarship.

UNDERCLASS

The Sophomore Class'

Class officers Rich Gifford - President, Pat Osterhout - vice-president, Linda Schell - secretary, Barbara Bidleman - treasurer, hold frequent executive meetings.

The class of 1968, a very lively group, has the enthusiastic look of true sophomores. They contribute to the high morale of the student body and soon adapt to the standard high school routine. The frightening stories of the "big senior high" have been forgotten and, for the most part, have been proven wrong.

This first year for the sophomores was quite in keeping with the traditional tenth grade year at Guilderland. Under the capable and experienced direction of Mr. Rothstein, the Sophomore Class took from the juniors the honor of being the "most prosperous class on record." The candy drive, sponsored annually by the sophomores, added well over $1500 to their treasury. Regular collection of class dues increased the funds available to the class for service projects and social activities. Outstanding decorations and a crowded dance floor at the Soph Hop indicated how much hard work and energy the sophomores use in working for their class and school. The money earned from these activities, in addition to the class dues, has given the class a bursting bank account. They look forward to spending this on senior social and scholastic events.

Throughout the 1965-66 school year, the sophomores displayed their great enthusiasm, spirit, and dedication to the social and scholastic traditions of our school. Approaching the close of their first year at Guilderland High School, they have experienced its unified, friendly atmosphere, and look ahead to more successful and profitable high school years.

Class treasurer Barbie Bidleman finds it necessary to spend at least one 8th period each week bringing the dues chart up to date.

Lunch time at Guilderland provides the sophomores with an opportunity for mixing among the upperclassmen. Because of the many extra-curricular and social activities, and the few class privileges, sophomores are considered an integral part of student life at Guilderland.

in senior high.

Mr. Pryor's American History I class includes current events as an important part of the syllabus.

The underclassmen have continued to enjoy their heritage of learning here at Guilderland. They have shared in the many accomplishments of the school. They have upheld the honor and tradition of scholastic achievement, and more important, have shown enthusiasm in their work.

Each student is part of a continuing process, contributing to the spirit of education. Each bit of knowledge and understanding he retains can be an asset in the business world - the world of which he will someday be a part.

Each year at Guilderland, sophomores are confronted with the puzzling, intricate theories of biology.

Mrs. Westcott's french questions may be difficult, but Meredith St. John thinks she knows the answer.

The Junior Class

Class Officers: President Jim Mann, Vice-Pres. Jim Elgie, Secretary Faith Donovan, and Treasurer Joyce Galeo

Class of '67

The Junior Class this year has seen outstanding academic and athletic achievements. The scholastic leaders of the junior class had the highest averages in the school. Juniors also have been significant members of all athletic teams. This is a class of great individuality and independence.

Leaders of the junior class include Class Advisor - Mr. Pryor, President - Jim Mann, Vice-President - Jim Elgie, Secretary - Faith Donovan, and Treasurer - Joyce Galeo. The juniors' most important money-making project was the magazine drive, and profits totaled about $1500. Dues also augmented the juniors' sizeable treasury. Many juniors worked very hard on the Junior Prom, which was held on April 16th. The Prom, after a slow start, turned out to be worth all the effort it required.

Juniors have many ambitions for an eventful senior year, including plans for free senior yearbooks, a senior banquet, and a very successful Senior Ball. The class is eagerly anticipating their last year and hope to establish new traditions in Guilderland through continued perseverance of their goals.

Class officers took an active part in the organization and leadership of the Prom committees.

Guilderland is a perennial powerhouse in the Suburban Council baseball league, and the 1965 season proved to be no exception. The Guilderland nine compiled a winning 9-5 record to capture a close second place in the Council standings.

With only four seniors on the team, the majority returned to action in 1966. Hitting the long balls for the Dutchmen were co-captains Jim Johnson and Fred Pidgeon. Fine clutch hitting was consistently provided by Pat Gabriel and Charlie Stumpf, while sophomore Mike Crook also ranked high in the batting average department. The powerful arms of hurlers Jim Johnson, Bruce Maki, and Gary Toomer were mighty weapons for the Dutchmen's defense.

One of the most exciting games of the season pitted the Dutchmen against the first place Raiders of Colonie. In the tenth inning, Bob Schmuck bunted in Gary Toomer on a squeeze play to score a 3-2 win. The Dutchmen downed Colonie a second time by coming from behind to win. Jim Johnson doubled and drove in two runs to tie up the score. Fred Pidgeon unloaded another double and brought Johnson home. Pidgeon scored on Gary Toomer's single, putting the Dutchmen two runs ahead. The Raiders scored only once more and bowed to Guilderland 10-9. The Guilders were also successful in non-league play, winning three out of four games and finishing the season with a 12-6 overall record.

The Junior Varsity nine, under Coach Sholtes, also had a highly successful campaign. After dropping their initial two games, the team rallied to score victories in their next ten contests. Ernie Mumford's seven victories paced the squad to a tie for first place with rival Bethlehem Central. The title was secured in the last game of the season when Rob Ferguson brought Mike Hiller home on a squeeze play to score the winning run over Shaker. This was Guilderland's third consecutive championship J.V. baseball team.

Tennis is a new sport on the Guilderland scene. Last year Coach Cohen started tennis as a club for freshmen and sophomores with the goal of forming a team in the future. The response was enthusiastic and in 1965 the tennis club competed successfully against teams from other schools. This spring, Coach Cohen received a second large determined turnout and his squad worked hard in both indoor and outdoor sessions before the season's curtain-raiser. This year, Guilderland participated in Suburban Council varsity competition. The squad will be losing only one senior from this year's turnout and G.C.H.S. should soon be a tennis power in the Suburban Council.

The 1965 track team slipped to a 2-5 dual meet record in one of Guilderland's weakest seasons. Several members won individual honors, however, in the dual and post-season meets. Dave Van Heusen placed second in the council with a school record effort of 1:58.1 in the half mile. John Rayburn, Dick Tarullo, and Hilmi Zahran set school records in the 440 yard dash, the shot-put, and the high jump, respectively. Freshman Dave Riggs placed high in the council by consistently running the mile in under five minutes.

Despite a poor showing in the won-lost column, the track team made very respectable showings throughout the season.

Hilmi Zahran is shown jumping in the meet in which he set the school record of 6 feet, 1 inch.

Bill Folland finishes his leg of the medley relay.

Cross Country

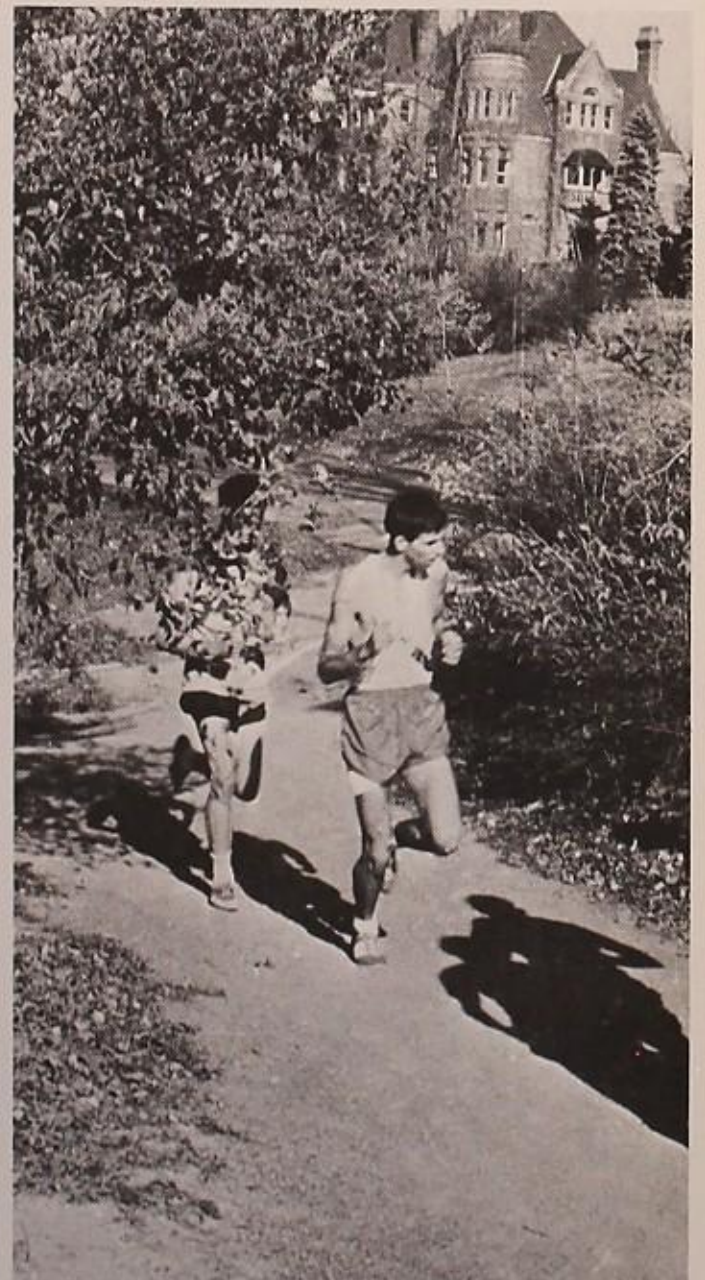

The 1965 cross country team, hurt by the loss of several outstanding members of last year's formidable squad through graduation, had a disappointing season. Paced by seniors Paul O'Boyski, Al Ross, Dick Delaney, Bob Trendell, and Bill Munro, the team finished with a 13-33 overall record and failed to win any of their six meets.

The team participated in several large, highly competitive meets this year. The Albany City Meet, the Cobleskill Tech Run, and the Grout Run, held in Schenectady, attracted top-flight competition from all around the state.

Next year's team will feature returnees Jim Lamont and Richard Liese. Coach Scrafford hopes that an improved turnout will help to improve Guilderland's cross country fortunes.

Seniors Trendell, Delaney, and O'Boyski lead the Dutchmen harriers as race begins.

Senior Paul O'Boyski was an outstanding performer for this year's cross country team.

Dutchmen cop Title

In its second year of varsity competition, Guilderland fielded one of the finest soccer teams in the section. A combination of good teamwork, a stingy defense, and aggressiveness and hustle led the team to a first place tie with Mohonasen in the Suburban Council race and to a berth in the sectional playoffs.

Under the guidance of capable Coach Snyder, who has now led GCHS to two championships in three years of competition, the team quickly showed vast improvement over last year's inexperienced squad. Coach Snyder developed one of the most balanced attacks in the area with this year's turnout. This balance is exhibited by the fact that at least one goal was scored by every forward or halfback on the squad. The team also had great depth and the coach was able to substitute at will without hurting the performance of the attack. The offense, which produced an impressive 29 goals during the season, was sparked by high scorers Bruce Maki, Bob Schmuck, and Eric Funk.

The defense also performed creditably, holding opponents to only 9 goals in 16 games. Outstanding goalie Pat Kill turned in 9 shut-out performances during the fall. Five of them came in the second half of the year as the booters recovered from a mediocre start to string together 9 games in a row without a loss to clinch the title.

In the sectional competition, GCHS scored a comeback victory over highly-rated Ichabod Crane in the opener. In the semi-finals, the team ended its season by bowing to undefeated Cobleskill 1-0 on a penalty kick late in the game.

The team compiled a total record of 11 wins, 3 losses, and 2 ties.

The Junior Varsity team under the leadership of Coach McCarthy, swept to an 8-1 record, and the Council championship. The strong showing of the Jayees, plus the fact that many varsity lettermen will be returning, make Guilderland the team to beat in the Council next year.

In the past few years, Dutchmen gridders have made winning football a tradition at Guilderland. The 1965 team members, who won the championship as freshmen, finished with a 4-4 season. In view of the numerous obstacles which faced the Dutchmen at the beginning of the campaign, 1965 is to be considered a true success.

This year brought a new face and an entirely new football system to the coaching staff of Guilderland. Coach Bud Kenyon came to Guilderland after a league-winning season at Hoosick Falls. Although fundamental football remained the same, Coach Kenyon introduced the Dutchmen to new offensive and defensive systems.

Luck did not seem to be on the side of the Dutchmen in 1965. Prior to the all-important game with undefeated Shaker, the team suffered the loss of four starting linemen. These vital spots were filled by able underclassmen, but the Guilders lost to the Suburban Council champs 14-12. In the annual Homecoming Game, the Dutchmen shut-out Gloversville 16-0 with a spectacular non-league performance. At the end of the season, players and fans traveled to Newburgh to witness a contest which is rapidly becoming Guilderland's traditional "big game". Although the Dutchmen played extremely well, they suffered a 32-0 shellacking at the hands of Newburgh's powerhouse.

Even though the team did not win any titles this year, some Dutchmen did make the headlines. Guilderland placed a large group of players in the Capital District scoring race, including junior halfback Curt Tucker, who headed the list for some time. Tucker, who missed the last two games with injuries, scored 42 points and joined end Fred Pidgeon on the first team of the Albany All-Suburban. Pidgeon was also elected 1965 Most Valuable Player. Other Guilderland players who made the All-Suburban Honorable Mention List included: Co-captains Al Kisby and Dom Gisotti, Pete Brunk, and Bob Currie.

Injuries proved costly to the lettermen this season, but they enabled many capable underclassmen to break into starting assignments. 1966 could very well be the year when the Suburban Crown returns to Guilderland.

ROW 1: F. Dagget, J. Elgie, B. Bates, Coach Hutson. ROW 2: F. Pidgeon, L. Edinger, G. Playford, P. Kill, M. Crook, B. Dunn, Mgr. ABSENT - M. Gavard, J. Moshier, D. Galka, Mgr.

1965-66 was expected to be a year of rebuilding for the Guilderland basketball team. Few regulars returned from last year's squad which posted only a 5-13 record, and area teams expected little difficulty in handling this year's quintet.

To the surprise of nearly everyone, the varsity team, under coaches Art Hutson and Hal McCarthy, combined a strong defense with a balanced offense to keep in the tight Suburban Council race throughout the season.

The scoring attack was paced by senior captain and most valuable player Pat Kill, who averaged 14 points per game, and whose 26 point burst against Niskayuna was the season high for a Guilderland player. Kill wasn't the only scorer in the Dutchman attack, however. Seven different players contributed double figure efforts at least once during the season. Seniors Fred Pidgeon and Jim Moshier and 6' 5" junior Mark Gavard provided most of the squad's board strength while Kill and juniors Mike Crook; Greg Playford, and Bob Currie played the guard positions.

The season opened with successive victories over Colombia, (with an 18 point performance by Currie), and Mont Pleasant. After close losses to Colonie and Mohonasen, the team edged out Bethlehem to carry a 3-2 record into the Gloversville Christmas Tournament. The Dutchmen, led by high scorers Mike Crook and Pat Kill, copped consolation honors in the tournament by defeating Johnstown after a red hot Bishop Burke team erased a 17-point Guilderland lead to hand them a first round loss. A win over Shaker and a loss to first place Niskayuna let the team enter the second round of Council play with a 5-4 record.

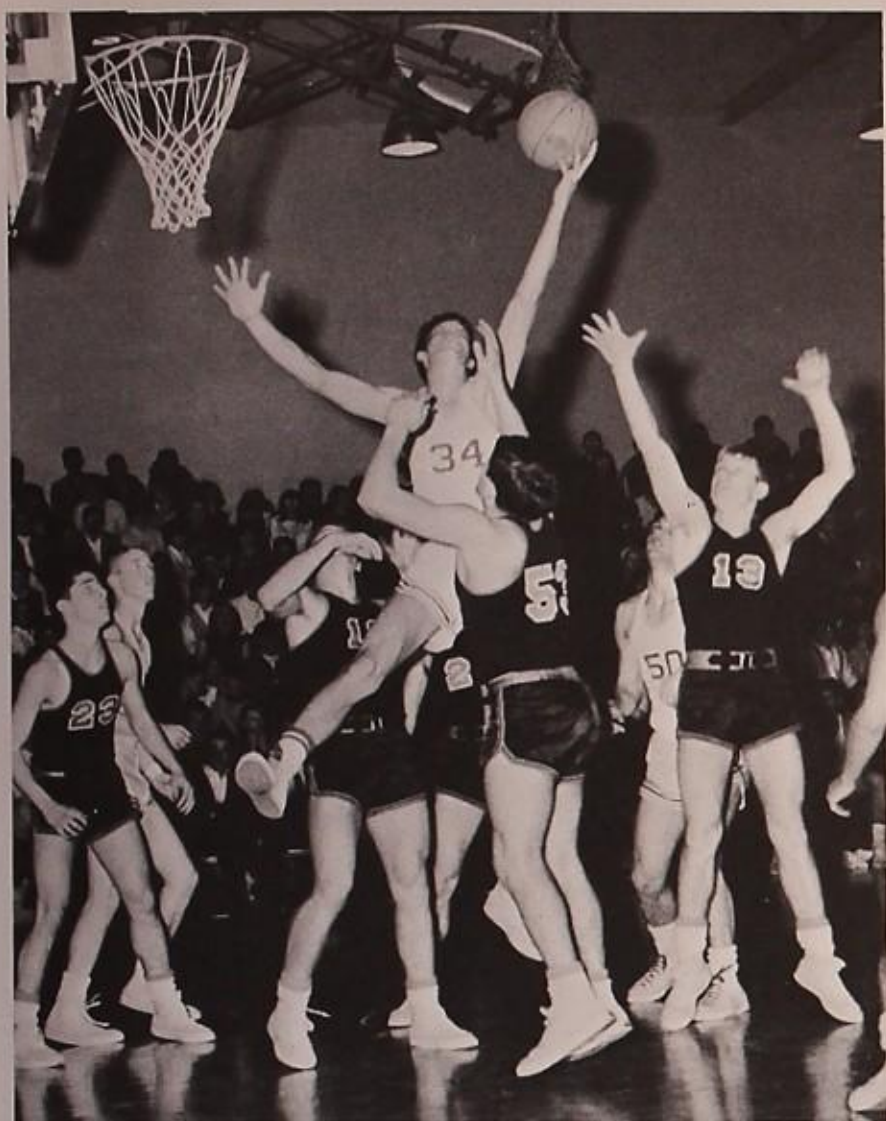

In the second half of the year, the team suffered Council losses to Mohonasen, Bethlehem and Niskayuna. A combined total of 42 points by Kill and Fred Pidgeon propelled G.C.H.S. over hapless Mount Pleasant and Jim Moshier's 19 point spree led the way to the second victory over Colombia. Perhaps the most exciting game of the year was the victory, in double overtime, over Colonie by a score of 74-66. The team placed four players in double figures in a spectacular team effort that erased a first half deficit of 20 points. The team again had four double figure performances in 73-57 rout of Shaker.

The regular season ended with the team owning a 6-6 Council record and standing 9-9 overall. In the tight council race this was good enough for a third place tie and a shot at a berth in the sectional tournament. A post season play-off loss to hot-shooting Shaker eliminated the Guilderland cagers and ended their season.

The outlook for next year's team is very bright. Coach Hutson will have seven players returning from this year's team and is losing only 3 regulars through graduation. He will also have the benefit of several promising players from this year's J.V. team.

Coach Cohen's Junior Varsity, after showing much early promise, slumped to a 4-9 record. However, balanced team efforts triggered a late-season surge which left the sophomore squad with a respectable 8-10 slate for the season.

Cheerleaders encourage school spirit.

The cheerleaders are an integral part of Guilderland's athletic program. Not only do they contribute to our teams' victories by raising player morale, but they play an important role in crowd control at all spectator sports. The cheerleaders also help boost school spirit with posters, pep rallies, and "red and white days". Their fine performance was instrumental in winning the Suburban Council Sportsmanship Award for Guilderland. Cheerleading provides the only opportunity for girls to participate in inter-school athletics before a crowd. Perhaps this explains why so many girls are anxious to wear the red and white uniform of the cheerleader.

The G.C.H.S. wrestling team, which swept to the Suburban Council championship a year ago, slumped to a 3-9 dual meet record. The team was hurt by the loss of most of last year's varsity, but they gained valuable experience in this year's highly competitive council race. The team started strongly with wins over Albany High and Cobleskill. The grapplers were only able to salvage one match, a 35-8 rout of Schoharie, during the rest of the season. The team's record was not really indicative of their ability. The last four meets were dropped by two points or less.

The team was led by co-captains Tom Saddlemire and Bob Austin, who produced 24 and 28 points during the season. Senior Bruce Veivia scored 23.

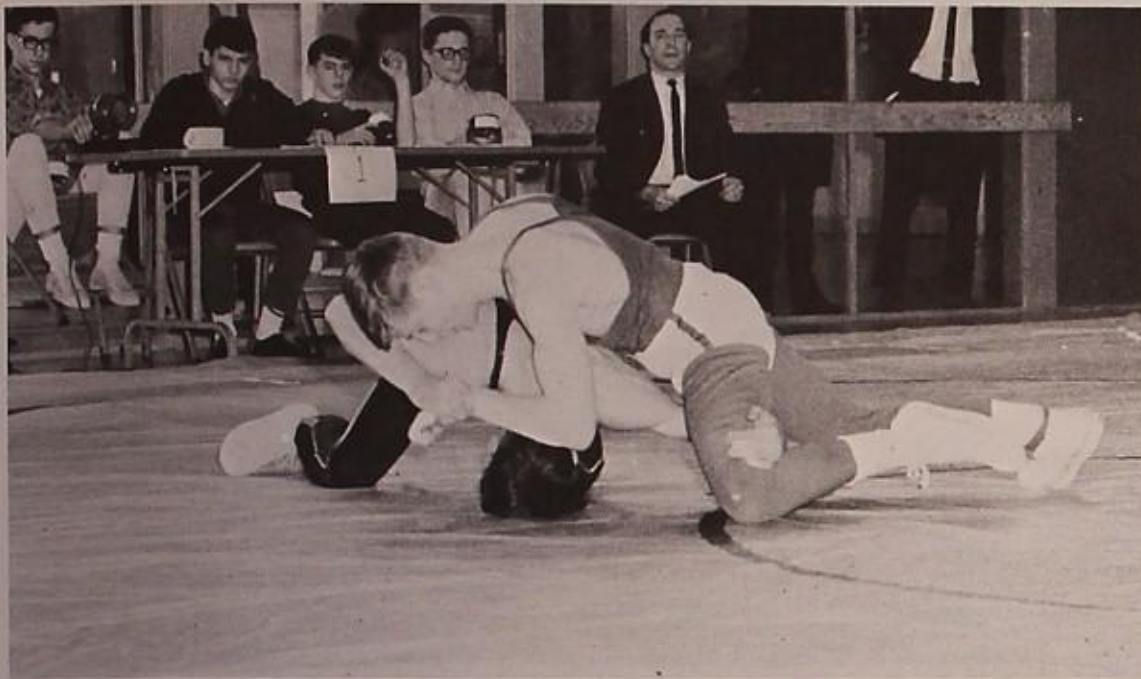

The wrestlers participated in the Schenectady Christmas Tournament, where Austin and Larry Peterson won third place honors, and in the Cobleskill Tournament. In the post-season Suburban Council Tournament, Mike Moorman took third place and five Dutchmen finished in fourth position.

Coach Wyld is losing only four regulars from this year's varsity, and next year's team will have many veterans returning. Among these returning lettermen are Stan Crouse, Pete Chakmakas, and Larry Peterson. The J.V. squad, under coaches Steenburgh and Davies, compiled a 2-6 record and gained experience by wrestling preliminary matches before varsity meets.

This year's volleyball team, coached by Mr. Wilson, had few returnees from last year's squad but it showed much early season promise. After dropping their initial match to strong Columbia, the team routed Mohonasen and Shaker. The J. V. team gained victories in both of their initial matches. The team will lose only three seniors from this year's squad, and prospects for next year's team are very good.

ROW 1: N. Meister, W. Fisher, B. Chesebro ROW 2: W. Ringle, W. Vroman, C. Fitzpatrick, G. Clickman, Mr. Bibbins

The boys' Bowling team, coached by Mr. Bibbins, made a very impressive showing this year by rolling to a 6-2 record and a second-place finish in Suburban Council competition. The Dutchmen bowlers held the league lead until a loss in their final match put them in second position. Barry Chesebro turned in the season's high single and triple game performances with efforts of 245 and 601 respectively. The team, composed of three seniors and four underclassmen, turned in balanced efforts throughout the year and G.C.H.S. should field a strong squad again next year.

The TAWASENTHAN is one of the most important parts of student life at Guilderland. It has traditionally been a publication of high quality and has consistently won awards at the Columbia Press Conference. This year's staff, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Jewell, has continually fought deadlines and put in late hours to produce a lasting record of high school years.

Early in October, the staff traveled to New York City to attend the press conference at Columbia University and undergo a short course in yearbook production. By this time the TAWASENTHAN was well underway, and staff members who had faced the baffling problems of margins, copy, and layouts for the first time were well aware of the effort required to fulfill their time-consuming position. Finances also presented a problem, as the staff set out to acquire advertising funds sufficient to cover the higher cost of this year's larger and improved edition. Countless students volunteered their time and talents to the preparation of the yearbook, and by January almost all had experienced the discouragement of doing a job over and over again. Yet, when the technical obstacles had been overcome, the printed results were sufficient reward for the staff's dedication. The TAWASENTHAN is once again a yearbook of which we can be truly proud.

Co-Editor's Message

Our position as Co-editors of the TAWASENTHAN has enabled us to gain an inside view of the functioning of Guilderland. The TAWASENTHAN has provided the opportunity to candidly observe many phases of the school's social and academic life. Our experiences have been rewarding, but they have also awakened us to the existence of problems and difficulties.

One of the most prevalent is the student's failure to accept his responsibilities to faculty and fellow students. We are at an age when taking the initiative to assume responsibility and coping with the pressure it presents is most difficult. Therefore, the majority of students are inclined to leave responsibility and decisions to others. This not only deprives the student of great personal satisfaction and enrichment, but places an increased burden on faculty advisors and student leaders.

Our organizations and activities are often the victims of this lack of responsibility. Many students fail to participate in these activities and those who do often fall short of their expected duties. This apathetic attitude, if allowed to go unchecked, could prove detrimental to the extracurricular program at Guilderland. A decline in student interest would also mean a decline in the quality of school projects, publications, and musical organizations. This lack of enthusiasm has been demonstrated by poor attendance at club and committee meetings, and the failure of many club projects.

With less student activity and interest, it can be sensed that the faculty's desire to participate is waning also. It is most important that the necessary bridge between students and faculty not be broken by the negligence on the part of either. Contact between instructors and students, outside the classroom situation, is fundamental to a diverse and sound education.

An adult advisor can provide the motivation and unifying force necessary for the success of the organization. Teachers are urged to cooperate with students who seek their aid in undertaking an extracurricular project.

Discussing student enthusiasm at Guilderland inevitably brings us to the topic of school spirit. Some students are known to criticize those who fail to become fervently excited at pep rallies and athletic events. It is a common fallacy to assume that the only manifestation of school spirit is a vocal one. Those who win academic recognition or contribute to extracurricular activities are doing as much to bring glory to Guilderland as those who consume their energy "cheering our teams to victory." Those who are involved less conspicuously in student life, while often not recognized or appreciated, are actually making the tangible contribution.

We selected tradition as a theme for the '66 TAWASENTHAN in an effort to make students aware of what their predecessors have accomplished, and to stimulate some of the interest by which these institutions were established. It is essential that student enthusiasm be revived so that Guilderland's fine heritage will not become lost to succeeding classes. Students can be justly proud of the traditions which have survived at Guilderland, and the responsibility of maintaining them is a challenge to all.

Tawasenthan Queen

The TAWASENTHAN is represented this year by its 1966 queen, Patricia Olsmit. Pat was nominated by the senior class and elected by the entire student body. Pat's friendly personality and her participation in extracurricular activities such as cheerleading and G.A.A. have contributed much to the graduating class at Guilderland. Throughout the year, she has proven a worthy recipient of this honor. Pat's selection was announced at the annual Christmas Dance where she was presented with a corsage of red roses. For the first time this year, the TAWASENTHAN also presented a yearbook court. The court members, who were runners-up in the TAWASENTHAN queen election, included: Mary Ann Mislán, Bonnie MacDowell, Louise Carlson, and Gail McNiven.

This year, editor Pam Savage has presented a new and much improved JOURNAL to G.C.H.S. The changes have been broad in scope and quite successful. The JOURNAL has offered student reviews of movies and books, student fiction, and other interesting columns, in addition to fine coverage of current social, academic, athletic events. There have also been many technical improvements on the JOURNAL. Dynamic lay-outs augmented by creative photography have added much to the quality of the JOURNAL. Pam has maintained the traditionally fine editorial policy of the JOURNAL by speaking out on pertinent issues and encouraging student participation in "Letters to the Editor". The JOURNAL has become a forum for student opinion and an integral part of student life at Guilderland.

Student Council is the student's voice

Student Council strives to establish better communications between the administration and the student body, and to give students a voice in school policy. The suggestion box provides a forum for student opinion, while officers and home-room representatives are elected by the entire school.

Student Council provides funds for the A.F.S. program by sponsoring the A.F.S. Dance in September. Those attending were entertained by our Spanish student, Marisa Garteiz, who sang and played the guitar. The proceeds from this dance will aid in sending one of Guilderland's students abroad this summer. The traditional Christmas Dance, also sponsored by Student Council, is one of the most important dates on Guilderland's social calendar. This year the TAWASENTHAN Queen and her court were presented at the Christmas Dance. Each year Guilderland encourages some of its most promising students to go on to further education by awarding them financial aid. Part of the funds for this project are supplied by Student Council's Scholarship Dance, to which all school organizations contribute. Student Council also co-ordinates the sale of refreshments at basketball games. At the end of each year, students are given the opportunity to run for office and to give a campaign speech before the student body. Student Council takes full responsibility for organizing this assembly and for conducting the voting in actual voting booths. These elections are a valuable experience in politics for Guilderland's future voters.

The members of the Senior National Honor Society seek to maintain Guilderland's traditionally fine scholastic standing. These students are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service. Under the direction of Mr. Sengenberger, they carry on numerous money-making projects to finance the annual trip.

This year Honor Society held a car wash in Altamont and Westmere. The support of students, faculty, and parents provided a big turnout and made this venture quite profitable. A dance in April planned around a spring theme was also enjoyable and successful. Members of Honor Society sold refreshments at two basketball games to increase funds for their trip. In May, Honor Society traveled to New York City and visited the U.N., the Fifth Avenue shopping district, and Yankee Stadium.

Guest speakers provided interesting and informative programs at monthly meetings. Miss Ropke showed slides and talked about her trip to Alaska, and Mr. Bibbins discussed France and presented the slides he took there. New members were inducted at the annual spring ceremony and banquet.

Sceptre Service sponsors

Sceptre Service seeks to benefit the school by working to solve its problems. Under the direction of Mrs. Westcott, the girls carry out many service projects during the year.

Sceptre Service sponsors the traditional Homecoming activities which are highlighted by the coronation of the queen and her court during half-time of the football game, a car parade and a dance. This year, more alumni attended the Homecoming Dance than ever before. Sceptre Service also raises money for the American Field Service by holding an annual slave sale. The girls are auctioned off to the highest bidder and for two days fulfill any reasonable request of their masters. This year girls carried books, did homework, and made lunches for the boys who had bought them, often while wearing ankle weights, collars, or leashes. The girls were "freed" by the reading of Guilderland's "Emancipation Proclamation" at half-time of a basketball game. Funds for A.F.S. were also raised during Sceptre Service Week. On "Clash Day," "Hat Day," "Jewelry Day" "Father's Day," and "Little Girls Day," the members dressed accordingly and collected in homeroom.

For the first time this year, Sceptre presented a spring dance and a movie entitled The House on Haunted Hill. On Teacher Recognition Day, Sceptre members, in conjunction with Key Club, honored teachers with bouquets and boutonnieres. The sale of stationery was one of the many successful new projects undertaken this year. Part of the funds from this venture went to help the needy through contributions to the Nurses' Welfare Fund. Sceptre also distributes P.T.O. calendars and awards a scholarship to an outstanding senior girl. Members of this organization help wait on tables at the athletic banquet, the Honor Society banquet, and other school functions, and they serve as usherettes for many activities. Sceptre girls are considered leaders in school service.

The G.C.H.S. Key Club, sponsored by the Altamont Kiwanis, is the boys service organization. Its members work throughout the school year presenting programs and engaging in projects of service to the school and the student body.

During the football season, the Key Club manages the concession stand and cleans the grounds at all home games. The club annually charts buses to send our students to the Newburgh and Gloversville football games. Other fall activities include supervision of the taking and distribution of school pictures and presentation of the Ski Jump Dance. During the winter months, the Talent Show and the Alumni Dance are the main projects. In the spring, such activities as Teacher Recognition Day and Party Nite are held. Other services, such as the daily candy sale and ushering at concerts are performed throughout the year.

Most of the money taken in by Key Club during the year is generously donated to the worthy projects such as the Foreign Student Fund and the Scholarship Fund.

In addition to the club's many service projects, there are several social events which have become a tradition on the Key Club calendar. The girls of Sceptre Service are annually guests at the club Christmas party which is held in the home of a club member.

In early summer the club holds an all day picnic at nearby Thacher Park. Once again Sceptre Service joins the Key Club for a day of relaxation.

F.T.A. promotes teaching careers.

Future Teachers of America is open to any student who is interested in pursuing a career in the field of education. Each member is given the opportunity to help some teacher, either on the elementary or secondary level, in the subject field of his choice and thus gain an inside perspective on teaching. This year, under the direction of Mrs. Osterhout, the club carried out many diversified activities. In November, the second annual Faculty Fishbowl was held, and the Senior High was again victorious over the Junior High, 145-85. In March, F.T.A. presented the Sadie Hawkins Dance, which has become a tradition at Guilderland. These activities, plus bake sales and other projects, provide funds for the F.T.A. Scholarship, given to a senior member of the club.

The Girls' Athletic Association is directed by Miss LaGreca and Mrs. Tetrault. These girls sponsor intramurals in field hockey, basketball, badminton, softball, and track. Many members also have the opportunity to compete in play days with other Suburban Council schools. Bake sales and club dues supply the funds for G. A. A. awards presented on the basis of points accumulated by participation in various sports. G. A. A. helps to encourage physical fitness and stimulate an interest in athletics. It has become one of Guilderland's most popular organizations because it provides the only chance for girls to compete in inter-school contests.

Ski Club

Skiing is one of the favorite winter activities of many Guilderland students. The Ski Club performs the useful service of offering to the student body the opportunity to ski at some of the best centers in the region. In the three years since its conception, the Ski Club has sent chartered buses of ski-enthusiasts to such famous areas as Killington, Gore Mt., and Mount Tom. The organization has become one of the school's most popular and largest with a membership of nearly one hundred skiers. Mr. Burda is the club advisor and the officers this year were John Kaasa, pres., Sue Lemmon - vice president, and Sue Dunne - treas. Under this leadership this year's club conducted successful trips to popular Hunter Mt., Stratton Mt. and Sugarbush. Guilderland students should realize the great privilege of getting these opportunities to ski at such fine centers and should fully support the organization's trips.

Library Assistants

The library assistants spend their study halls signing passes, checking out books, and preparing returned books to go back on the shelves. Their services free Miss Ropke from these routine duties so that she can spend more time aiding and instructing students. The library assistants maintain order and silence in the library when Miss Ropke is busy, and they are always ready to lend a helping hand to a student in search of a novel, reference book or magazine. Those who find the card catalogue confusing also seek the aid of the library assistants.

Leadership Club

The varsity lettermen who compose Leadership Club are a fine example of citizenship and sportsmanship, and their athletic accomplishments are held in high esteem by fellow students. The letter which is the token of admission to this club is earned through hours of hard work and grueling practice. These Dutchmen are the students who carry Guilderland's image to other schools with their performance on the grid-iron, the court, the field, and the diamond. Under the guidance of Coach Field, the Leadership Club undertakes several money-making projects. This year they brought the Harlem Astronauts to Guilderland to play against a selected faculty hoop team.

Although newly formed and still quite small, the Biology Club is a dedicated and hard-working group. The club was organized in response to students' desire to do more advanced work beyond the regular curriculum in biology. This year the club did several detailed dissections, including a cat, and listened to a lecture by on the cells. With Mrs. Munson as advisor, the club plans to undertake many more projects and expand its membership. It is hoped that eventually enough students will become interested that an advanced biology class can be added to Guilderland's science program

Red Cross

Red Cross Club helps the National Red Cross to help those in need. Under the guidance of Miss Dodge, representatives promote the club's activities in each homeroom. Perhaps the most publicized activities of Red Cross are the annual fund-raising drive and the observance of Red Cross Week. Guilderland students have also been given the opportunity to attend workshops with club members from the entire area and learn what is being done in other schools. Many students have given their time to teach swimming lessons, act as lifeguards, and work in hospitals as Gray Ladies and Gray Men.

Chess Club

The Chess Club provides students with an opportunity to test their mathematical knowledge, analytical skills, and powers of concentration. Many of our chessmen have become masters of this notoriously difficult game, as is indicated by the numerous awards in the trophy case. Players match wits in contests with each other and with students from other Suburban Council schools. During practice sessions they receive instructions from their advisor, Mr. Pryor, as they work to improve their game.

P.A. Announcers

The cheerful greetings of these girls awaken the school at the beginning of each day. After leading students in the pledge of allegiance and pausing for twenty seconds of meditation, they bring us up to date on school news and current happenings. Announcement of eighth period activities, assemblies, and lunch menus are all made over the P. A. system during homeroom. This year students also enjoyed the sports desk, which reported scores and highlights of many athletic contests and a new program directed by Mr. Andreone, which kept students informed of television shows of special educational interest.

Choir presents "Elijah" Palm Sunday

The G.C.H.S. choir is a traditionally fine organization with an outstanding reputation for quality singing. Much of the credit for the success of this group belongs to director Richard Wagner. Mr. Wagner selects his concert pieces from a broad range of choral works. A repertoire of traditional Christmas music is presented at the Albany National Savings Bank and later at the annual Christmas concert and a school assembly. The winter months are spent preparing for the Palm Sunday presentation. This year Mr. Wagner chose "Elijah" by Mendelssohn. The final appearance of the choir is at the spring concert, featuring musical groups from all district schools. For this appearance, Mr. Wagner chooses songs of a lighter and more popular nature. Choir is a rewarding experience for anyone with an interest in music.

"Elijah" is practiced during a full choir rehearsal

Smaller section rehearsals allow time for individual instruction.

The tenor and bass sections rehearse their parts in "Elijah".

Sopranos carry the melody in "Elijah".

The altos wait for their cue to come in.

Orchestra increases musical appreciation.

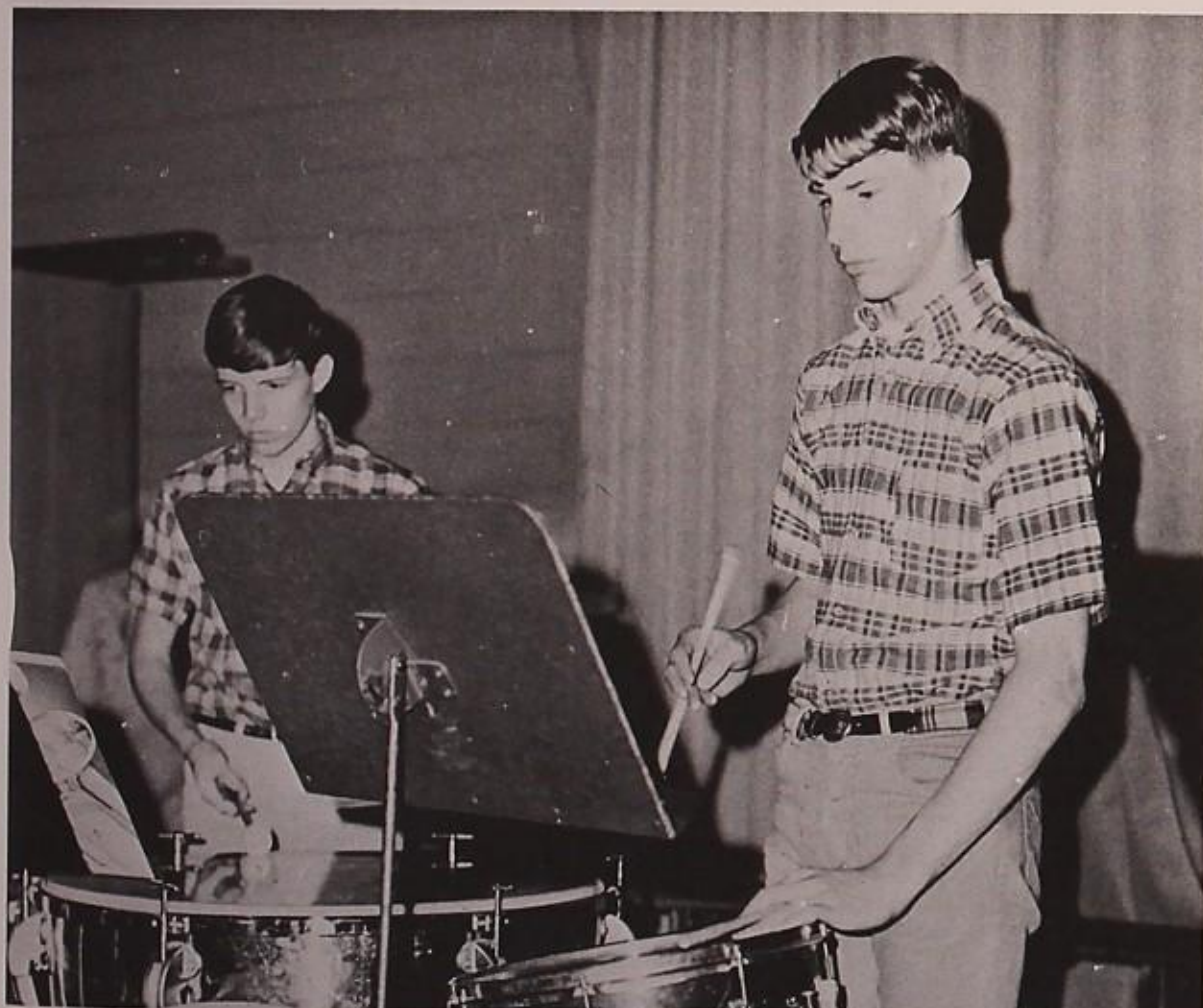

Guilderland's symphonic orchestra is one of the school's finest cultural attributes. This year direction of the orchestra was taken over by Mrs. McGowan. During rehearsals, orchestra members prepared for the three major concerts given at Christmas, in the spring, and at the end of the year. In its final appearance, the orchestra combines with string groups from the entire district. Those who participate in orchestra not only increase their musical skills, but gain a new awareness of classical music.

Orchestra conductor Mrs. McGowan strives for excellence during a rehearsal.

A small but precise woodwind section adds to the full sound of orchestra.

John Kaasa and Jim Yohey concentrate on the percussion score.

Guilderland's band provides

Woodwind and brass sections rehearse for the spring concert.

Through position auditions, practice requirements, and increased student effort, the band has become a greatly improved organization. This improvement has stimulated more student enthusiasm and greatly increased participation. Besides being an accomplished concert band, the G.C.H.S. band is becoming a marching and performing group. The band has been active in area concerts and parades, and made its second trip to the World's Fair this fall.

Marisa Garteiz — A.F.S. student from Spain

Marisa Garteiz came to Guilderland from Bilbao, Spain to live with the McNiven family. Since her arrival she has made many friends and has been readily accepted into the everyday routine at Guilderland. Marisa participates in choir, Sceptre Service, and Spanish Club and she has maintained a full schedule of speaking engagements. Marisa had no problem adjusting to American family life, because her family situation is very similar to that of the McNivens. Like her American sister Gail, Marisa has five brothers and sisters. Although accustomed to domestic help in her own home, she has willingly pitched in with the chores in her American household. Marisa and Gail also share many interests, including a liking for the guitar. Marisa, an expert guitarist and fine singer, has been much in demand at parties and dances. Marisa has brought Guilderland students a more vivid impression of Spain and a better understanding of its people. Her many friends will always remember Marisa's contributions to Guilderland. Here she has recorded something of her life in Spain and her impressions of America.

America, America! This was my first reaction when my mother informed me that I was chosen to go to America. I could not describe my joy and happiness.

Coming to America is an experience that every foreigner ought to have. I will always remember and cherish the wonderful times I have had this year.

To live in a different country from your own, is the nicest present anyone can receive; much knowledge can be gained about your native country and the one in which you are living.

When I first came in August, I spoke very little English, and this was my worst problem; but people were so friendly that this difficulty was very soon diminished. After one month school started and I was very scared; the first few days were rough because I didn't know where the rooms were, I couldn't understand the teachers, and I knew very few people; in other words, "I felt completely lost". It took me only a short time to become used to the American way of life, and to understand the people. Wonderful!

In Spain, I live in Bilbao, a northern industrial city, and I am the oldest of six children. My father is the manager of a factory which makes automobile parts, and my mother is a housewife. Although many facets of life are similar at the McNiven's, "my American family", there are many different customs that I find interesting to learn about. At the same time that I learn about the American way of life, I can help my family and friends to understand my Spanish customs and way of life. Isn't this wonderful?

Basically teen-agers are the same in Spain and in the U. S. A.; the customs of dating are different, because in Spain, generally, teen-agers date in large groups, but I can say that I very much enjoy the school activities at Guilderland. After this wonderful year ends, I will not be able to express my gratitude to my family and friends in Guilderland. I would like to take this opportunity to try and tell you how much I am enjoying my year in America, and to thank you again for everything.

Marisa talks with Mr. Ciaccio, who has had an important part in making her feel at home in Guilderland

Judy Nowak visits Brazil

Judy Nowak was chosen to represent Guilderland in Brazil by a panel of faculty members, A.F.S. students, community leaders, and A.F.S. representatives. Judy's high school record shows that she is exceptionally qualified for this honor. As well as ranking first in her class, Judy has contributed much in the way of extracurricular activities. A member of Honor Society for four years, she has participated in Student Council and served as treasurer of her junior class. Judy is also a sports enthusiast and has played on the girls' bowling team and other intramural teams. Judy has varied interests, but her favorite hobby is reading. This fall she will enter Cornell University where she plans to study medicine.

Judy's trip to Brazil was a very valuable and memorable experience for her, and most of us have also profited from learning of her travels. Judy has shared her experiences by speaking to various groups and exhibiting souvenirs of her trip. Because so many of you had a part in sending Judy to Brazil, we have asked her to write a permanent record for the TAWASENTHAN. From her impressions, you will learn many of the cultural differences between Brazilian and American life, but you will also see how basically similar people are, and how much Judy's Brazilian family is like her own family in the U.S. Below is the story of her South American visit.

Judy, who is Valedictorian of her class, is an excellent student as well as an active participant.

To my fellow students and friends:

Thanks to you all, I now have wonderful memories of Brazil, our largest South American neighbor, and its people. Last summer I traveled to Vitoria, Brazil under the auspices of the American Field Service and stayed with the family of Manuel Gomes Meira.

My Brazilian family was made up of Dr. Meira, an ophthalmologist, Mrs. Meira; two young boys, named Maninko and Esar; and a teen-age girl, Anamaria. Everyone accepted me with a great deal of warmth and made me feel right at home.

Ana and I spent the days with our teen-age friends, who were a real "blast". In the morning we always swam at the beach; and in the evenings we went to parties, danced, or listened to "bossa nova", which is about the "coolest" music I have ever heard.

The Brazilian way of life is rather easy-going and pleasant. The people, unlike Americans, certainly aren't clock-watchers. It took a long time for me to get used to being an hour and a half late for parties and other affairs.

The Brazilian people are very friendly and polite. I never met with any anti-American feeling; in fact, everyone tried to make me feel at home and was very interested in life in America.

The language of Brazil is, of course, Portuguese. At first this was a problem since I had studied only German. A few phrases which really came in handy were "Nao entendo" (I don't understand) and "Eu nao fale Portuguese" (I don't speak Portuguese). Before long, however, I got to learn some of the language and began to use these phrases less and less frequently, especially the latter. The language barrier was further broken down by the fact that many Brazilians spoke a little English.

Vitoria, where I lived, is a port city on the Atlantic coast 350 miles north of Rio de Janeiro. The docks are in the heart of the town, and one of the characteristics of Vitoria is a complete concentration of both public and private facilities. It's a rather small city, but is made picturesque by its many beaches and beautiful parks. Vitoria is also capital of the state of Espirito Santo; and, therefore, the governor's palace and the house of state are located here.

The climate of Vitoria is semi-tropical. Although it was winter during my stay, the weather was always pleasant and warm. Because of the climate, palm, orange, and banana trees are the most typical types of vegetation.

The food eaten here is fairly typical of that found in other parts of the country. Beef and rice are the standard dishes, although fish is also popular. Oranges and bananas are the favorite fruits; and of course everyone drinks that delicious Brazilian coffee. In my Brazilian home, as in the homes of all high class families, the cooking and housework is done by a servant girl.

Walking through the streets of Vitoria, I noticed an interesting thing about the Brazilian social structure. People here are either low class and live in miserable poverty, or are high class and live in comparative comfort. There is no middle class as we know it. I should also note, however, that most higher class Brazilians probably live about as well as middle class Americans.

Thanks to my Brazilian family, I was able to travel many miles and to come to know and love other cities besides Vitoria.

During July, I traveled to Belo Horizonte, a large city 450 miles west of Vitoria with my sister and a group of girls from her school. For ten days we toured the city and made side trips to historical towns near Belo.

The most beautiful city I visited was Rio de Janeiro, capital of Guanabara. For a week in August, I stayed in Rio with my Brazilian parents and attended the Pan-American Conference of Ophthalmology. I also stayed here for three days before my return flight home. All of these trips brought me into contact with new people and new knowledge.

For me, this has been the most rewarding experience of my life. I shall always hold Brazil and her people dear to my heart. "Nuito 'brigade" (many thanks) to you for making it possible.

The Junior Prom Was the

Saturnalia — 1965

"Saturnalia" was the theme of the 1965 Junior Prom. The Prom was held on April 24 over Easter vacation. For this occasion the gym was transformed into an ancient Roman temple. Pillars draped with garlands and gold cloth, and potted palm trees lined the sides, while a waterfall with grass, geraniums, and a white wrought iron bench emulated a Roman garden near the entrance. The throne area was backed by a mural of a Roman temple, with bronze sculptures at either side. Colored lighting and a bust of Caesar outside the entrance contributed to the atmosphere of "Saturnalia". Refreshments were served by several freshmen in authentic looking togas.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the 1965 court. The court was selected by a vote of the class prior to the evening of the Prom. The court members were introduced in couples as follows: Linda Knapp escorted by Javan Owens, Diana West escorted by Bob Schmuck, Sue Wilson with Dom Gisotti, Mary Lou Bidleman and Mike Hiller, Sue Lemmon with her escort Angus Twombly, and Bonnie MacDowell escorted by Ron Fairhurst. Pat Gabriel and Mary Ann Mislán were elected 1965 King and Queen. They were crowned by the 1964 King and Queen, Jay Twombly and Jane Kent. After the coronation, King Pat and Queen Mary Ann danced the royal dance, with the court members joining in. Music for the Prom was provided by Mr. Warner's band.

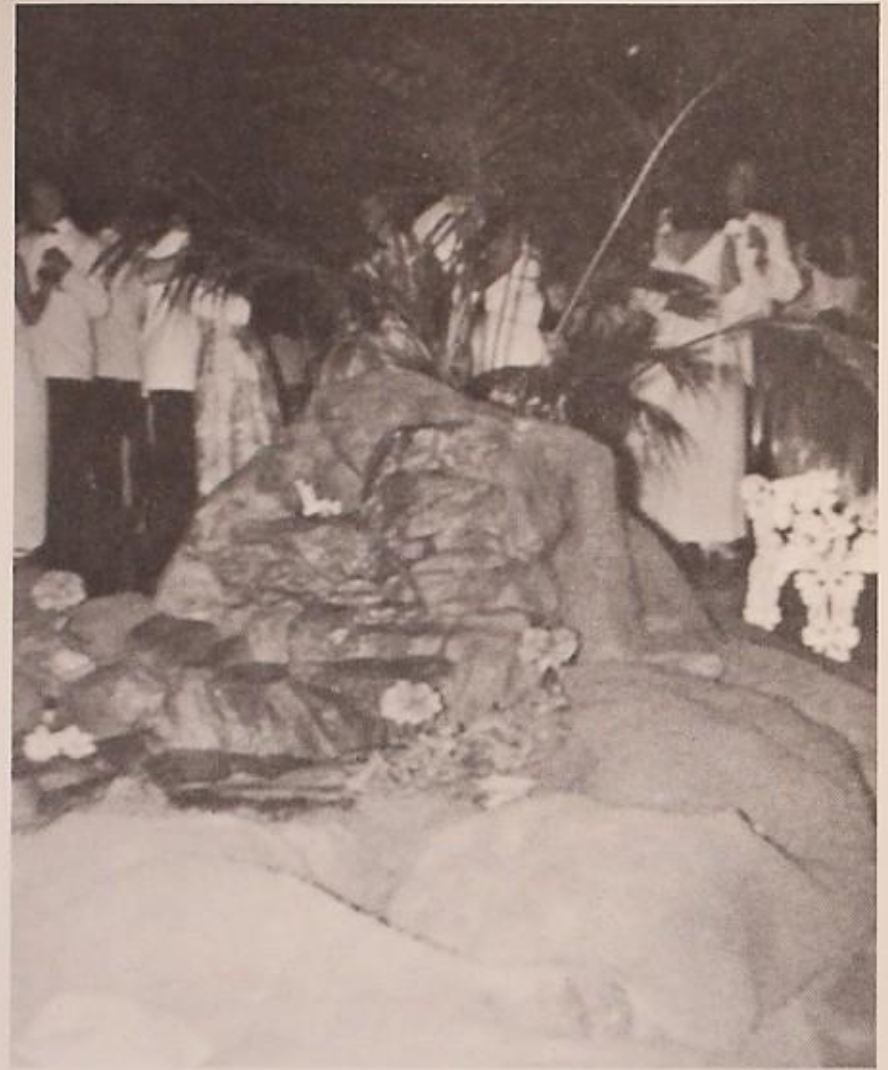

Afterward, juniors went out to eat at area restaurants and private parties. The post-prom activities, which lasted well into the night, continued the next day. Early Sunday morning juniors returned to school to clean up and take down decorations. From there they went to Thatcher Park where the junior class picnic was held.

The Junior Prom involved many weeks of careful planning and hard work, but each junior who had spent hours making a gown, had given up several days of vacation to decorate, or had spent his last cent on a corsage agreed that it was well worth the effort when the finished results were evident. For the class of 1966, "Saturnalia" successfully climaxed a prosperous year.

The TAWASENTHAN has shown life at Guilderland from a traditional point of view. Although Guilderland is a comparatively young school, traditions have been established and their impact on student life has been significant. Most important of these traditions has been successful student-faculty relations. The teacher guides the unsure student down a new path of understanding, and the student, often silently, has a sincere respect for this concern. Traditions are like the passing of time; often changed, sometimes forgotten, but always there to grow and prosper throughout the ages.
